The novel opens with Aunt Polly scouring the house in search of her nephew, Tom Sawyer. She finds him in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with jam, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tom cries out theatrically. "Look behind you!" and when Aunt Polly turns, Tom escapes over the fence. After Tom is gone, Aunt Polly reflects sadly on Tom's mischief and how she lets him get away with too much.

Tom comes home at supper-time. To his surprise, his father tells him he has been dropped out of school that afternoon. Tom's heart sinks as he realizes that this is the reward he has been dreading. Aunt Polly is satisfied. Tom and his father are in a strained atmosphere. Tom has sworn the shift to disfigure his face. Tom goes out of the house in a rage. A storm is coming up and Tom sees a peculiar whistling. While wandering the streets of St. Petersburg, Tom sees Huckleberry Finn, a wanderer and outcast. Tom and the new arrival eat in a hotel and eventually choose the newcomer as the new kid in town.

When he returns home in the evening, Tom finds Aunt Polly waiting for him. She notices his dirtied clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aunt Polly sends Tom out to whitewash the fence. Jim passes by, and Tom tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of necklace. Jim almost agrees, but Aunt Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tom alone with his tasks.
